

1924 - THE PHILADELPHIA CLASSICAL SOCIETY - 2008

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Salvete, Amici Amicaeque Societatis Classicae Philadelphiensis!

Greetings from the officers - past and present - and the members of the Philadelphia Classical Society. The new school year is well underway, and Latin is alive and well in the Philadelphia area.

This year there are again many programs and other opportunities for professional development. We will now be showing "IMPORTANT DATES..." on our website. This work was first begun by past president Carol Berardelli, and admirably continued by Jonathan Rockey. We welcome suggestions and contributions toward any future events to post on our website. Also let us know if you have discovered any little-known museums or libraries with classical exhibits.

Also coming up soon is the fall meeting of the PCS on Saturday, November 17, 2007. We will have several speakers, including David Califf on the newly reopened Greek & Roman galleries at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, Also, Henry Bender on podcasting in AP Latin, and Faye Peel on Latin texts for the Middle School, and others.

Later this school year, the Philadelphia Classical Society will again sponsor competitions in traditional arts, literature and academic exams.

Consult www.philaclassical.society.org for more information.
