SEVENTY-FIRST ANNUAL CLASSICS WEEK AWARDS

Sunday, February 14, 2010 (die Solis A.D. XVI KAL. MART. MMDCLXIII A.U.C.)

Dear Student of the Classics,

Congratulations! You have won a special award in the annual Classics Week competitions sponsored by the Philadelphia Classical Society. The officers of the Society and I are pleased to invite you to the Annual Banquet Luncheon which will be held at Drexelbrook Catering in Drexel Hill, Pennsylvania. This year marks the 71ST year of our Society's competitions. Your participation demonstrates the ongoing value and importance of the noble tradition of the classics, and we thank you.

The annual Awards Luncheon will be held: Saturday, March 13, 2010 at 12 noon
Drexelbrook Catering
4700 Drexelbrook Drive
Drexel Hill, PA
www.drexelbrookcatering.com

We look forward to celebrating your achievement at this festive occasion, along with your parents, grandparents, and any other well-wishers you wish to bring with you.

The cost of the served luncheon is $24.50 per person, student or adult. Admission is by ticket only. Again, this year, the seating in the banquet area is limited; no one may pay at the door. Therefore, please complete the form at the bottom of this letter, detach it, and give it and your check to your teacher as soon as possible (by Friday, February 26, 2010). Checks should be made payable to the Philadelphia Classical Society. Those especially classically inclined are invited to wear a toga, tunica, or stola. If your project has been designated "Best of Show," please bring it to the Banquet Hall by 11:30 a.m.

Thank you for your interest in the classical languages and for your participation in this competition. We are looking forward to greeting you at the March 13 Awards Luncheon.

Sincerely,
Dr. Lynn Ennis Iozzo, President,
for the Officers of the Philadelphia Classical Society
